Subject: Highway Improvement Projects - TOIP Implementation Plan/Tracking Tool Update

The Wisconsin Department of Transportation (WisDOT) developed the Traffic Operations Infrastructure Plan (TOIP) with the goal to evaluate traffic operation projects in the same manner as traditional infrastructure projects and integrate both into the planning process. WisDOT segmented the entire state trunk highway system into 37 corridors and published the Connections 2030, which was adopted for the TOIP efforts as the basis for planning of operational enhancements. From the TOIP methodology, some of these corridors were defined as priority and emerging priority corridors reported in the 2008 TOIP Final Report. The major component in developing the TOIP was to recommend ITS deployment focusing on ramp control and surveillance, traveler warning and information systems, and traffic signal systems to corridors that exhibited existing or future operational needs. The 2008 TOIP Final Report recognized the needs for ITS deployment based on 10 operationally-oriented parameters and it recommended the level of ITS deployment and type of device, but it neither specified the location to install the devices nor the cost of installation.

The 2009 TOIP Refinement Plan focused on the ITS device deployment locations and it also included devices/technologies that were not discussed in the 2008 TOIP Final Report. Cost estimates were also developed to provide a preliminary assessment of the capital investment needed to install, operate, maintain and replace these devices. As part of the TOIP Refinement Plan, a "tracking tool" was developed as means of monitoring Wisconsin's highway improvement projects. The highway improvement project information is obtained from WisDOT Six-Year Highway Improvement Program (FIIPS report) which can be used in conjunction with the TOIP to assess opportunities to incorporate the design and construction of ITS devices within highway improvement projects.

The 2008 TOIP Final Report prioritized fourteen corridors (six Priority corridors and eight emerging priority corridors) based on their Deployment Density Class recommendations and priority score. The fourteen corridors encompass the vast majority of Wisconsin's freeway and Interstate highway system. The TOIP was recently updated in 2010 as part of ongoing plan updates and maintenance. The 2010 update resulted in new Deployment Density Class recommendations and priority scores for most of the corridors. It also resulted in the inclusion of Wisconsin Heartland (WIS 29 between Green Bay-Eau Claire) as an emerging priority corridor, resulting in a total of fifteen corridors (six priority corridors and nine emerging priority corridors). The updated list of fifteen priority and emerging priority corridors that are monitored for upcoming projects and their respective abbreviations for the highway improvement project tables are shown in Table 1. Table 2 provides an explanation of the column headings used in the project tables. Tables 3-7 list the upcoming highway improvement projects by Region per the current Six-Year Highway Improvement Program (dated May 9, 2012). The tables show projects for the next 2 years with costs over $1 million. Because roadway maintenance projects may not be eligible for ITS deployments, those entries are grayed out.
